Spada and McCardle Predict the Area Races

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County's Democratic and Republican county chairmen, at the request of The Daily Freeman, looked into their crystal balls this weekend and foresaw great things for their candidates with a few exceptions and a few "ifs."

The race between Republican Conservative Assemblymen H. Clark Bell and Democrat-Liberal Maurice F. Hinchey seemed to evoke the most interest and comment by them.

"That's my favorite," declared Democratic Chairman James T. McCardle who said he believes Hinchey will "squeak through."

GOP Chief Albert Spada,

however, said that even though "a couple of weeks ago it looked close," the voters have finally heard Clark's "statements concerning the true record of Bell's great voting record in Albany."

McCardle on the other hand pegs his hopes for Hinchey on the 11,700 new voters. Historically, he explained, 60 per cent of new voters vote Democratic. McCardle said he feels the race is a real tough one for Hinchey and that he is handicapped in a presidential election year. "But," he adds, "all the input I have shows that Hinchey is real strong and I think Bell is in real trouble."

Both give the 46th State Senatorial race to Republican

Conservative Edwyn E. Mason of Hobart with Spada predicting, "a landslide" for the upstate assemblyman and McCardle agreeing that "it is tough to run anyone against a man such as Mason who is regarded as 'an institution.'"

Mason is being opposed by Democrat D. Steve Rahmas. Spada and McCardle are more or less in agreement too about the 27th Congressional District which pits incumbent Republican Congressman Howard Robison against Democrat David H. Blazer, of South Kortright, Patrick O'Neill, Endwell Conservative candidate and William Oshy, Liberal professor from Cornell University.

Favored to win by a wide margin is Robison, a Candor lawyer and veteran of 16 years in Congress.

Spada and McCardle disagree on the outcome of the Fish-Burns race in the 25th Congressional District with Spada saying he sees no problems for Republican Conservative Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. "The polls show him running very strong. It's just a matter of how much of a plurality he attains," he said.

McCardle sees a different picture saying he "doesn't look for a runaway in that race." He feels John Burns III of Carmel has had excellent exposure in the district.

He also sees the Democratic candidate in the 26th Congressional District, incumbent John G. Dow of Newburgh as a winner. "Dow's overall record has been good and he's running on it," said McCardle adding that Independent Yale Rapkin of New City will pull votes away from the Republican contender Benjamin A. Gilman of Middletown.

Spada sees a victory for the GOP in the 40th Senatorial District while McCardle calls it "a real horse race."

The GOP feels incumbent Republican-Conservative Richard E. Schermerhorn will "win again" that there are no issues with regard to his voting record.

McCardle finds the 99th Assembly District race difficult to access because only three towns of Ulster County are included with the balance of the district in Dutchess County. Although the Democrats have "an excellent group working for their candidate Philip Magnarella in Ulster County" McCardle would not predict the outcome.

Spada however said that the three towns in Ulster County are running strong for the incumbent Republican-Conservative Eneel Betros and that Dutchess County expects to bring in a large plurality for him. Both chairmen ruled out the Liberal candidate Satrio Kazolias as any threat to their candidates.

Nixon Remains Confident

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon, confident he will be returned to power and going easy to avoid disturbing his big lead in the polls, told voters Tuesday's election gives them a "clearcut and momentous" choice of principles, policies and men.

Nixon prepared today to wind up his last campaign for public office with a taped 30-minute television statement: bolstered by film clips.

Nixon and his rival, Democrat George McGovern, were due to spend part of election eve within 60 miles of each other. McGovern, making his fifth visit to California, a crucially important state to his campaign, was flying into the Long Beach airport tonight for an hour-long rally before heading for his home state of South Dakota.

Nixon, making the 13th in his series of radio campaign speeches, said Sunday that "the choice of policies, of principles and of candidates in this election is clear cut and momentous."

"I think the people understand what is at stake. I have confidence in their ability to make a wise decision."

"And whatever that decision is on Tuesday, I intend to support our elected leaders as I have always done. I intend to stand up for national unity, as I have always done, because America is bigger than any one man or any one party," Nixon said in an apparent jab at McGovern's statement he would not necessarily abide by the tradition of the loser appealing for national unity behind the winner.

The President, buoyed by his wide lead over McGovern in the polls, was keeping a low profile for his last time around the political track. Seeking a landslide, he was determined not to rock the boat.

Nixon and his wife Pat will cast their ballots early Tuesday at a nearby elementary school, then fly back to the White House for a family reunion to await the returns. Their daughters, Tricia Cox and Julie Eisenhower, Nixon's proud surrogate campaigners, will be voting on the East coast.

The windup was typical of Nixon's campaign, remarkably low-key for an incumbent president. He made few campaign trips and his last campaign rally—he called it "probably the best"—was staged Friday night in a specially built stadium at Ontario, Calif., International Airport before a huge crowd with flags flying, searchlights flashing in the sky, costumed bands blaring, and organized chanting of "four more years."

Nixon, born in Yorba Linda, Calif., started his political career in his home state 26 years ago and he played out his last campaign for public office here.

Though he referred to "all the emotion of the final week-end before an election," Nixon did not involve himself in any public activities.

He spent a quiet Sunday, getting to his Western White House office at 7 a.m. for meetings with chief domestic and foreign advisers John Ehrlichman and Henry A. Kissinger.

Nixon taped a 15-minute speech, the 13th and last in a series of paid political radio broadcasts. This one, aired Sunday afternoon, outlined 10 goals he views as the birthright of tomorrow's children. His first goal was peace with honor.

McGovern in Final Swing, Fights Underdog Role

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fighting the pollsters but drawing cheering crowds, Sen. George S. McGovern opened a final day of coast-to-coast campaigning today before returning to South Dakota to await the voters' verdict.

McGovern planned visits to Philadelphia and Los Angeles in the last day of his 22-month effort to win the White House from Richard Nixon.

Fighting his underdog image, McGovern told enthusiastic supporters in New York Sunday night that the political polls, most of which are predicting a Nixon landslide, are dead wrong.

"We're going to give those public opinion pollsters the surprise of their lives," he told a blue collar audience of several thousand at a Brooklyn housing complex.

"We want George," they shouted back. Secret Service agents and police had to strongarm McGovern into his car as the spectators jostled to shake his hand.

While hitting hard on government corruption, wiretapping and presidential vetoes, McGovern used his toughest language against Nixon's failure to end the Vietnam War. The administration's peace plan "is an election year ploy," the senator told a follow-up rally at a Bronx high school. "Peace is not at hand."

After his remarks, McGovern and his wife remained on the auditorium stage and watched a 30-minute paid telecast that he had taped just an hour earlier in Manhattan. The program was aired nationwide on NBC.

In the broadcast, McGovern repeated his charge that the Vietnam peace agreement outlined 10 days ago by Nixon's negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger,

"was a deliberate deception, designed to fool the American people in the closing hours of this election campaign."

He said the war could have been settled in 1969 on the same terms that Nixon was now offering and that the President did not deserve four more years to negotiate a durable cease-fire.

McGovern now is visiting only the "must win" states. His schedule has been revised several times daily in the final week as his strategists try to get him exposure in such critical vote areas as downstate Illinois, Texas, Michigan and New York City.

In an unexpected move, aides scrapped plans to spend all of the final campaign day in the industrial East and Midwest. Instead, McGovern will visit Philadelphia and then fly to Los Angeles with an intermediate refueling stop in Wichita, Kan.

And, on the eve of a more awesome moment of truth, George Stanley McGovern appears gripped by the hope—perhaps even the conviction—that he can do it again.

"We're going to win," he told an interviewer before embarking on his coast-to-coast finale. "It is a kind of coming together on the part of the American public, a realization that there has been too much deception both here at home and now even in the issue of war and peace itself."

McGovern was joined in the broadcast—and later at a rally in the Bronx—by Preston Thomas, Lafayette, Calif., whose son, Timothy, was one of 22 Americans killed in Vietnam Nov. 1, just one day after, according to Hanoi, the United States was supposed to sign a cease-fire agreement.

"Timothy wrote several letters to me," said Thomas. "He talked of his girl he left behind . . . his future. He felt the war was about over, and of course when we were told that it was to be over on the 31st we were very happy and Tim said 'I'll be home by Christmas.' Tim won't be home and not on Christmas . . . My boy was killed needlessly."

"We are killing Vietnamese, North and South, needlessly," said Thomas.

"I happen to be a Republican," he added, "but not as of the first day of November."

Election Eve Question . . . How Accurate Are Polls?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national polls show President Nixon with a hefty election eve margin among those surveyed, despite some last-minute gains by Democratic nominee George McGovern.

The final pre-election Harris Survey, released Sunday showed President Nixon was favored by 59 per cent of voters polled, to 35 per cent for McGovern and with 6 per cent undecided.

Gallup's latest survey, conducted Oct. 13-18, showed Nixon with 59 per cent to 36 per cent for McGovern.

But a Chicago pollster—who has called all presidential races correctly starting with the upset victory of Harry S. Truman over Thomas E. Dewey in 1948 — says he won't predict this race, because "it's an election like no other."

"We found it was futile to try soliciting an accurate voter response. Most people will not or cannot reveal their true feelings or actual attitudes this year," said Louis Cheskin.

Cheskin, whose polling method is to show an individual a photograph of the candidate and ask how he feels about him, said: "It is my opinion the results will be close to 50-50. McGovern can be elected."

Another national pollster, Daniel Yankelovich, said his personal opinion is that Nixon will win by "a little landslide."

Louis Harris said McGovern's only chance would be if "President Nixon suddenly changed his method and went out stumping in a different style . . .

slashing out at McGovern personally." He added there is little chance of this.

Harris and Yankelovich said polls now in progress or data being analyzed show some improvement in McGovern's standing. They said uncertainty over the prospects of ending the Vietnam war is helping McGovern.

The majority of the polls use random sampling, picking a number of localities around the nation and conducting a set number of interviews.

Loud Rejection by Indians On Ultimatum to Vacate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 500 determined American Indians loudly rejected the government's final offer to voluntarily vacate the Bureau of Indian Affairs building early today and requested President Nixon to intervene in the five-day dispute.

The Indians, who have occupied the building four blocks from the White House since Thursday, were given an ultimatum by the Interior Department to leave by 8:00 a.m. EST, or risk violation of a federal court order.

The administration may ask U.S. District Court Judge John Pratt to find the Indians in contempt of his order if they fail to comply, according to an Interior Department spokesman.

The Indians, who earlier had torn down barricades, hastily re-fortified the building with furniture, business machines, desks, and display cases following their overwhelming decision to ignore the government settlement proposal.

The Indians sent a telegram to Nixon in San Clemente, Calif., requesting that he fly back to meet with their leaders today. They also urged Nixon to appoint a special 12-member commission, comprised of seven government appointed members and five Indians, to negotiate a settlement.

The government proposal which contained the eviction notice also offered the Indians the use of the BIA auditorium during "reasonable hours" and granted a number of Indian demands for cooking and shower facilities.

The government added that if the Indians complied with their offer, a meeting would be arranged with Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton some time this week.

At 1:00 a.m. gathering in the BIA auditorium, the rank-and-file Indians roundly rejected Interior's proposal on a voice vote. Shortly before the vote, Indian leader Dennis Banks, national field director of the American Indian Movement, said "in the next 24 hours we are faced with a situation that is going to develop into a battle with the government and the people here."

The Indians immediately began preparing for battle. Organizers shouted orders to sentries and foot soldiers, armed with clubs and makeshift tomahawks and young men and women began piling furniture in front of doors. Teams of war-painted braves were dispatched to watch the back exits.

The Indians took over the building on Thursday after their demands for adequate housing and food went unheeded. They came for a week-long protest called the "Trail of Broken Treaties" demanding 20 reforms of the government's treatment of their people.

School Funds Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to review a New York law that provided $28 million a year in state funds for parochial schools until it was declared unconstitutional.

The justices acted on appeals from the ruling by a three-judge panel in New York City last April. The case will be heard early next year and a final decision announced by the end of June 1973.

Appeals had been filed by Arthur Levitt, the state comptroller; Ewald B. Nyquist, the commissioner of education; Earl Brydges, majority leader of the state Senate; and three Roman Catholic and two Jewish parochial schools.

The 1970 Mandated Service Act allocated direct payments to parochial and other private schools to reimburse them for administering examinations, maintaining attendance records and making other reports required of the schools by the state.

In a 2-1 decision, the district court in New York held the assistance violated the First Amendment's separation of church and state.

The appeal by Levitt and Nyquist emphasized that the nonpublic schools are required to keep records and administer tests in order to comply with New York State's compulsory attendance laws.

Therefore, the state officials said, the schools should be reimbursed for their expenses. They added that "the precise question" has never been ruled upon by the high court.

He reports the group now has more than 50 members from various units of the SUNY system and private colleges throughout the state.

"The association should prove to be a valuable resource for those employed in correction and police agencies as well as for those wishing to enter into criminal justice education," Professor Dietz reports.

Lake Placid Turns to West

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Officials of this Adirondack village will be watching the election results from Colorado with interest Tuesday, because the outcome of a referendum there might make this economically hard-pressed community a likely alternative site for the 1976 Winter Olympics.

Colorado voters will decide whether the state will contribute funds to the staging of the games. And officials in Lake Placid, where the first Winter Olympics in the U.S. were held in 1932, have quietly begun planning for the possibility that the games might be switched here if Colorado aid is denied.

"Lake Placid is the next logical place in the United States for the games if Denver pulls out," said Mayor Robert Peacock. "I'm confident we could put the games on for less money than any other place in the United States."

Peacock and other local officials said they are reluctant to discuss their contingency planning now for fear of seeming to undercut Denver's chances for the games.

"We're not actively seeking the games and we're not trying to interfere with Colorado," said the Rev. Bernard J. Fell, sports director of the North Elba Park District.

Fell had been active in efforts to get the bobsled competition for the Olympics switched to Lake Placid when Denver rejected the construction of a bobsled run as too expensive. That bid failed when the Olympic Committee decided to drop the bobsled event rather than run it separate from the rest of the games.

With the bobsled run at nearby Mt. Van Hoevenberg and other facilities built for the 1932 games, Lake Placid officials say they already have most of the facilities needed for the 1976 games.

A huge run, a 90-meter ski jump, refrigeration for the outdoor speed-skating rink and—most importantly—housing are the four elements lacking in the area, Fell said.

But Fell says he thinks the $15.5 million Congress agreed to put up to help Denver get ready for the games would go much further here than in Colorado, because of the facilities that are already available.

He suggested that the state could provide some aid by building housing and sports facilities at the North Country Community College in nearby Saranac Lake, and then get a return on its investment by converting the school to a four-year college after the games.

Fell summed up the area's pre-election position this way: "We have the experience to run the games, and the facilities. Now all we need is the financial commitment and the bid."

The village hosted college athletes from throughout the Bobsled Championships in February last winter for the World.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give over 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin.

Probe Armed Holdup At New Paltz Motel

NEW PALTZ — After taking $24 in cash, a wrist watch and two rings from the couple, the bandits ordered them to lie on the floor. The victims were bound hand and foot and adhesive tape was put over their mouths to prevent them from calling for help, police said.

The couple managed to free themselves about 45 minutes later and summoned village police, who began a search for the two men. Police said it is not known if the suspects escaped on foot or by auto.

Meanwhile, two 15-year-old youths who allegedly burglarized a Port Ewen grocery early Saturday have been taken into custody by Ulster County Sheriff's Department deputies and turned over to Family Court for disposition.

First Sergeant Donald Policastro said that the two youths, who were not identified because of their ages, were allegedly seen coming out of Smith's Grocery, 202 Broadway early Saturday morning. The informant notified Deputy Arthur Nersesian, who reportedly arrested the two youths at their homes.

Canarsie School Boycott Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — Education at Junior High School 211 in Brooklyn's Canarsie section continued in turmoil today on the seventh day of a white boycott over the enrollment of 31 black and Puerto Rican students from a Brownsville housing project.

Expected to be missing with the white students were the black students from the Tilden Houses project and the Canarsie area in observance of Black Solidarity Day.

Leaders of the 10 parent groups were scheduled to meet today with the central Board of Education in attempts to resolve the dispute, which appeared to be centering on the issue of maintaining racial balance.

The Canarsie school has 30 per cent black enrollment and many whites fear the 31 new students would precipitate a "tip" in the racial balance leading to a segregated school.

Meanwhile, the District 18 local school board had scheduled a public meeting today to act on a resolution to appeal through the courts the central board's decision to send the students to JHS 211. That decision was upheld by the State Education Department.

A split on the local board widened when the four East Flatbush members repudiated Friday by the local board blaming the central board for the "chaotic condition" in Canarsie.

Three of them had signed the statement with the board's five majority members from Canarsie.

Board President Jack Zimmer of Canarsie said he is in favor of Schools Chancellor Harvey B. Scribner's plan, overruled by the central board, to place the Tilden Houses children in JHS 68, a school in Canarsie with 97 per cent white enrollment.

Gertrude Pastelnick, president of Canarsie's combined parent-teacher association said Sunday the boycott was continuing because the "angry" parents want control of JHS 211 returned to the district.

PALENVILLE, N.Y. (UPI) — Willard Roth, 80, of this Greene County community perished Sunday night when a sofa covering caught fire as he was lighting a cigar, state police said.

His wife, Grace, 78, tried to pull him free but was unable to do so. Suffering from smoke inhalation, she was taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital and listed in satisfactory condition.

Guidance Council Slates Session

KINGSTON — An orientation session for those persons wishing to know more about the Kingston Narcotics Guidance Council will be held Tuesday, Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the ground floor classroom I at Kingston Hospital. The class will be for those interested in the council and in becoming active workers.

Those wishing to join the council will be provided with training in a four-week program beginning Nov. 21 with each session lasting two hours.

Topics covered will be "The Pharmacology of Drugs," "The Psychological and Sociological Problems of Drug Abuse" and "Rehabilitation Programs" and Counseling and Council Procedures." A visit to the drug rehabilitation center is also planned.

The Kingston Narcotics Guidance Council has been serving the people of Kingston since July 1970.

Through the "Uptight" telephone "hotline", three-eight-zero-two-two-seven, which is manned daily by volunteers trained to help with a variety of problems including drugs, assistance has been provided to over 2,000 persons.

In addition to the hotline, members have given talks to many service, school and church groups in the community to help educate the public to drug abuse problems and how to prevent them.

Town of Red Hook Budget Public Hearing Set

RED HOOK — Town of Red Hook residents may expect to pay less in town taxes in 1973 if the preliminary budget figures are adopted.

A public hearing on the proposed budget will be held at 7:30 p.m., Nov. 8 at the town hall.

It will be the second consecutive year that the board has seen fit to reduce taxes locally. Estimates for town residents outside the village see the rate dropping about $2.71 for $1,000 assessed valuation to $14.92 and for village residents a drop of $2.69 to $14.70 per $1,000.

Total appropriations are about $252,000, with about $128,000 to be raised by local real estate taxes, some $13,000 less than in the 1972 budget.

Supervisor Warren Simmons has stated that county tax rates often increase, offsetting town decreases, but he was hoping that there might still be some tax relief after both are balanced out.

The decreases are reflected primarily in several highway fund areas.

Salaries proposed in the budget are: Supervisor, $4,000; town justices, $4,800 and $2,800; professional assessor $7,200; town clerk $4,600; councilman $1,000 each; highway superintendent $8,500, and tax collector $2,200.

Sabotage to Cables Prevents TV From Shea

NEW YORK (UPI) —The Columbia Broadcasting System described as sabotage Sunday the slashing of cables which prevented the telecast of a pro football game. The network said, however, it will be able to proceed with its election coverage Tuesday night despite the strike of cameramen, technicians and engineers.

The strike by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), which began Friday, also resulted in the cancellation of a political interview show and a number of other pro football games. CBS said the strike "will not affect our broadcasting of returns to the fullest extent" on election night Tuesday.

The network alleged that cables at Shea Stadium in New York had been cut, preventing televising the game between the Washington Redskins and the New York Jets. CBS carried the Chicago Bears-Detroit Lions contest instead.

The network called the damage to the cables sabotage although the perpetrators have not been identified. Attempts by CBS to use cables from trucks near the stadium resulted in scuffling and the arrest of three men said by the police to be CBS technicians.

Authorities alleged one man tried to unhook a cable and when police attempted to arrest him two other members of a nearby IBEW picket line intervened, resulting in the arrests.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Sen. George S. McGovern canceled plans to appear on a CBS interview show. Aides of both men said the candidates did not want to cross picket lines. The candidates originally were to appear separately for 30 minutes each on "Face the Nation."

Approximately 1,200 IBEW members are involved in the walkout which resulted when contract talks broke down Tuesday. Management spokesmen said the effects were expected to be minimal, with supervisors handling equipment normally operated by union members.

The strike affected technicians in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Boston, San Francisco and Washington. Radio broadcasting was affected only in Boston and San Francisco.

News Poll Tabs Nixon Landslide

NEW YORK (AP) — The Nixon a 77-23 margin in the third and final Daily News straw poll published in today's edition shows President Nixon a 53-47 edge in New York City. The first poll gave Nixon a leading Sen. George McGovern 65-35 over-all margin. Dating back to 1938, the News Poll has correctly predicted 28 out of 31 races for president, governor, mayor and U.S. senator.

Japanese Hijacker Overpowered by Police

TOKYO (UPI) — A 42-year-old stewardess, the pilot, copilot overwhelmed the man when he old gumman wearing a green rubber mask seized a Japan Airlines jetliner carrying 126 persons today and demanded $2 million and a flight to Cuba. Police overpowered him eight hours later as he walked to a larger plane the airline was readying for the flight to Havana.

The daylong drama, watched by millions on television, halted air traffic into the world's largest city. Police identified the hijacker as Henry Wong, whose nationality was not immediately determined.

"Prepare two million dollars in old U.S. currency," the pilot said the hijacker ordered. "Take me to Cuba via Vancouver and Mexico. Prepare a DC8 at Haneda (Tokyo) Airport."

Police officers concealed themselves inside a gleaming red, white and blue DC8 readied for the hijacker before it was towed to within shouting distance of the 727.

Negotiators talked to the gunman, who took over the cockpit of the 727, through bullhorns and by radio from the control tower.

The hijacker left the 727 after agreeing to the release of the 120 passengers and three

Two Germanys Resume Talks

BERLIN (AP) — West and East Germany resume negotiations today in the wake of a Big Four agreement that cleared away at least one obstacle to normalization of relations between the two Germanys and their applications for membership in the United Nations.

Egon Bahr, the West German state secretary, told the cabinet Sunday this session could be his final meeting with Michael Kohl, the East German state secretary, before they finalize a treaty.

The treaty of diplomatic recognition would pave the way for both states to apply for U.N. membership in addition to mutual diplomatic recognition. Chancellor Willy Brandt would like to announce an agreement with East Germany before the West German general election Nov. 19, figuring it

27-Day Strike Ends in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chileans return to work today as the worst strike in the nation's history ends, at least temporarily.

"This is a moment of triumph for Chile's democratic labor movement. We paralyzed the country for 27 days," shouted Leon Vilarin, head of the National Labor Command as he urged striking workers to go back to their jobs in a radio speech Sunday night.

Marxist President Salvador Allende's government gave in to some—but not all—of the strikers' demands. The truce temporarily ended Chile's most serious internal crisis since Allende was elected two years ago.

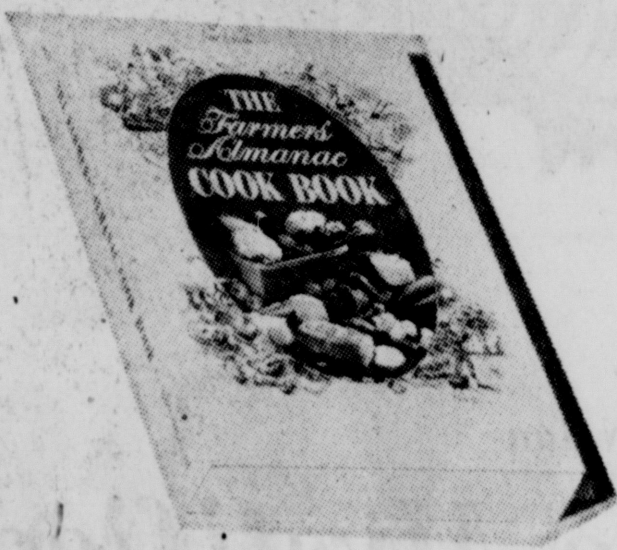

All the strike leaders credited the new interior minister, Gen. Carlos Prats, for leading both sides to a solution. Allende named Prats, who had been the army commander, to the cabinet Thursday in a move to appease opponents of his leftist regime.

Government sources said Allende will leave Nov. 17 on a two-week trip to Cuba, Mexico and the United Nations in New York. This will leave Prats, the No. 2 man in the government, in charge and provide a further cooling off period.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 6, 1972

WASHINGTON — The FBI's new boss, Pat Gray, has just discovered what we offered to show him six months ago — that the FBI has been keeping files on congressmen. We had reported that the FBI spied not only upon congressmen but upon black leaders, movie stars, football heroes and other prominent Americans. As evidence, we quoted excerpts from the secret FBI files. To our astonishment, Gray nevertheless insisted to correspondents: "None of you guys are going to believe this — and I don't know how to make you believe it — but there are no dossiers or secret files." We immediately offered to tell Gray, since he was new around the FBI, where some of the secret files were stashed. We even printed several of the file numbers to help him locate the hidden dossiers. The entries vary in classification, we noted, from "Confidential" to "Top Secret — No Foreign Dissemination — No Dissemination Abroad." Despite our help, it took Gray six months to discover the congressional files. Not until an FBI agent, Lee Kias, was caught checking on a Democratic congressional candidate in Ohio did Gray admit that the FBI had been collecting information on both congressmen and candidates since 1959. Gray said the practice had "just come to my attention" and he ordered it stopped. But he insisted that the FBI program had been limited to gathering biographical data on major candidates for the House of Representatives and the Senate from newspapers, magazines, campaign literature and various reference publications.

FBI Spying

Once again, we are happy to enlighten Gray about his files. The congressional dossiers, in addition to newspaper clippings and campaign literature, also contains eavesdrop information, surveillance reports and gossip from informants.

The FBI chief, if he doubts us, can start with the file on House Speaker Carl Albert. Gray will find therein a report, based upon a conversation picked up by an FBI listening device, about Albert's relationship with lobbyist Fred Black.

The file on House Democratic leader Hale Boggs, now missing in Alaska, is loaded with wiretap information picked up during the FBI's investigation of fixer Nathan Voloshen and ex-House aide Martin Sweig.

Or in the FBI file on House Republican leader Gerald Ford, Gray will find a report on a bugged telephone conversation between AVCO's Earl "Red" Blaik and the GOP leader. FBI agents, checking on the monitored conversation, found the Blaik had enlisted Ford's aid in preventing a probe of an AVCO defense contract and that Ford occasionally had hitched free rides on AVCO planes.

Representative Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., was kept under FBI surveillance, his file will show, because of a blackmail report.

The FBI not only kept a file on Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., but also upon his 22-year-old daughter, Jacqueline, and his 25-year-old son, Michael.

Or, if Gray really doubts that congressional candidates are sometimes watched by FBI agents, he might read the dossier on Rev. Walter Fauntroy, the nonvoting representative from the District of Columbia. FBI agents were present when Fauntroy met newsmen on January 6, 1971, at the site of the new FBI building.

"At 1:10 p.m. Reverend Fauntroy was observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation exiting from a car bearing a 'Fauntroy For Congress' poster on the left front door," declares a confidential report, which Gray will find in Fauntroy's file.

"Reverend Fauntroy approached the construction site and after greeting newsmen began to read from a prepared statement, the opening paragraph of which inferred that the new (building) was being constructed as a shrine for Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI."

There's much more in the secret FBI files which will be happy to share with Pat Gray if he has trouble locating them.

Silent Diplomacy

Credit President Nixon's silent diplomacy for getting the tax removed on Jews who wish to leave Russia.

During his Moscow meeting with party leader Leonid Brezhnev, the President got an unpublishable promise that Russia would permit Jews to emigrate to the United States if not directly to Israel. Brezhnev kept his word but levied a tax on departing Jews.

The Soviet justification was that the tax would make up for the free education they had received in Soviet schools. The tax varied, therefore, according to the degree of education.

When White House negotiator Henry Kissinger later returned to Moscow, he objected quietly that the tax was contrary to the spirit of the Nixon-Brezhnev understanding. Lately, the Soviets have quietly dropped the tax.

Presidency De-Mystified

NEW YORK — So much of American and foreign literature on the subject is drenched in treacle, coating the ambitions and skulduggery of its tenants with all that noble burden-bearing poetry.

It has been a two-century soap opera. The White House is too often hooked up as a stage for the secret storm, the days of our lives in search of tomorrow for a guiding light.

The 1972 election may be marked as a time when the holy veil of reverence around the Oval Room began to sag a bit.

The 1972 election, after all, may be noted as a time when office and tenant were truly peddled like soap, with as much hard-sell and earnest a pitch as any on daytime television. The product was called "The President" and promised a new improved, brighter, whiter White House, 28 per cent more effective than Brand X.

The TV-ad campaign of 1968 was perfected for sales campaign of 1972. The ultimate is subtlety and slickness may have been those shots in Peking and Moscow using Mao, Chou and Brezhnev as Cecil B. deMille extras.

The commercialization seems complete, and all of those monumental portraits of Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt look out of place. Even though a South Dakotan is involved, this contest doesn't seem like a bid for Mount Rushmore.

The most important book of the last four years was probably George Reedy's "Twilight of the Presidency," in which the former White House aide argued for demystifying the presidency. Reedy suggested that the fellow put on his trousers one leg at a time and the argument seemed revolutionary in the archives on the subject.

Hear John Bright of England in 1961 write rhapsodically of American presidential elections:

"The whole world offers no finer spectacle than this: it offers no higher dignity... You may point, if you will, to hereditary rulers, to crowns coming down through successive generations of the same family... but to my mind there is nothing more worthy of reverence and obedience, and nothing more sacred, than the authority of the freely chosen magistrate of a great and free people; and if there be on earth and amongst men any right divine to govern, surely it rests with a ruler so chosen and so appointed."

John Bright would undoubtedly have approved those snappy Sigmund Romberg uniforms for the White House police unveiled and discarded so hastily in 1969. Louis Heren, a latter-day Briton, sees the same monarchical trappings, even to the similarity between today's Secret Service short haircuts with discreet badges and the ancient regalia of the Beefeaters guarding Buckingham Palace.

But maybe the next four years will see a resurgence of Congress, a return to a more parliamentary attitude, at least. This election may prove that the office of the presidency is as frail and mortal a vessel as the personality of George McGovern or Richard Nixon.

Neither the Democratic nor Republican party is prepared to be the perfect tabernacle of dreams, either. But governments based on the ideas of a party might be better than those based on the fear of a personality. Fear of McGovern is the dominant issue this year, just as fear of Goldwater dominated 1964.

In a parliamentary system life is less fearful. In Ottawa last week Pierre Elliott Trudeau could go out with class. With something like a deadlock facing Canada, the prime minister could still say with serenity and fearlessness: "Whether or not it is clear to you, the universe is unfolding as it should."

Reflections on a Flight Home

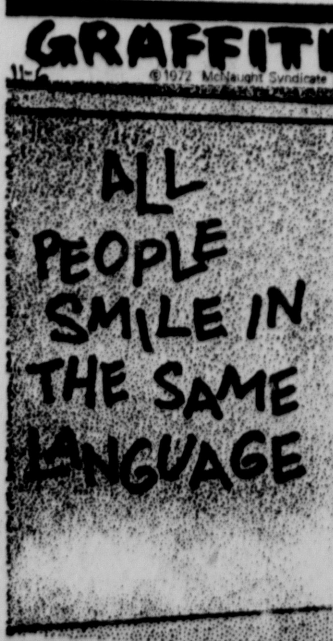

Homeward Bound (KFS) — There was plenty of time to dream wide-awake about where we had been and what we had seen. National's Flight One leaves London in the late morning and arrives at Miami International non-stop 9 hours and 10 minutes later. We had plenty of time to think. We couldn't find a ship. Sailing to Europe is so old-fashioned that the fine big liners are taken off the Atlantic run as soon as the last of the American school teachers are home. The big vessels are sent on winter-long Caribbean cruises. Mrs. B. wanted a ship. She settled for a plane. When we were ready to return, I said: "National has one of the longest non-stop flights — 4,150 miles —" and she said: "Don't tell me. I don't want to know the sordid details." I dozed through part of the movie. I chuckled over a dinner-conversation with a French countess. Between the fish and the lox, she insisted that a certain woman writer, name of Martha Gellhorn, had "guts" when she went to the front lines in the Spanish revolution of 1938. "The only danger she faced," I said gravely, "was being tossed on a bed." The eyebrow of the countess climbed until it reached her hairline. "As a woman," she snapped, "I regard that as an occupational hazard." When the plane was two hours past Ireland the captain called Checkpoint Charlie, a Coast Guard cutter, for a radar fix on position and speed. Then he asked if any of the lonely sailors had any messages to be relayed home. Some sent greetings to parents, girl friends, relatives, the captain and first officer copied them down, word for word.

The plane was westbound at 600 miles per hour, seven miles straight up. The cutter was pacing a beat in stormy seas at 14 knots. One boy came on the air with a confidential whisper. "This is to Maizy Smith," he said, and gave the street address, and city. "Dear Maizy," he said. "I will be in port on the nineteenth — that's wum niner, captain — and can't wait to see you. Please take the day off. Please. You got that, skipper? Thanks," he was quietly desperate. For a week, we rested at the Chateau Saran of Epernay, France. We retired early and slept late. Over black coffee and buttered croissants, I worked on a book. The French windows led to eye magic. Outside, the lawns cascaded downward like green falls to a chalky road far away. The trees were tall and stately and old. Each morning, the leaves turning russet and yellow were more numerous on the outside branches. A group of squirrels hurried to finish their housework before the big frost. I love the valley of the Marne. It has natural beauty and a timeless attitude toward life. In the morning, men carry slender three-foot loaves of shiny bread from the bakery to the odor of coffee in the house. I do not pause in Paris because there are no Frenchmen there — just Parisians. A Spanish statesman once told me gravely: "When we go to Paris, my wife and I go at once to the Eiffel Tower because it is the only place in Paris from which you cannot see the Eiffel Tower." There was a black African who was a dinner guest at the Chateau one night. A countess invited him but he spoke no French, no English.

None of us at the table spoke a word of Swahili. He was well-mannered. Whenever anyone passed food, or said something he would stand up, click his heels, and say "Bonga Bonga." That was his name. I heard it all evening. After dinner my wife approached him with a glass of champagne. "Bonga Bonga," he said and her knees buckled and she nearly slid to the floor. Flight One passed Kennebunkport, Maine. I was dreaming of how therapeutic it is for me to watch my wife enjoy herself. She dressed warm each day because the air was sparkling and chilly. She laughed her way through France, and three days in London. It wasn't exactly the honeymoon she planned. Still, it was the honeymoon I had planned. Try one nearer home. It's good for the soul...

Food Price Decline

It wasn't much of a slide, but the 1 per cent drop in food prices in September was the first monthly decline since April, and brought some relief to householders.

There were slightly lower prices for beef, fresh fruits and vegetables, compared to August. The slightly more for pork, eggs and frying chickens did not offset the declines.

Perhaps the most eagerly looked for decline was in the price for beef. Consumers paid somewhat less for this table standby because of a slide in cattle prices and the first dip in middlemen's markups since June. The September retail price for beef was slightly less than $1.13 a pound at an average for all cuts, from hamburger to steak.

This was almost 3 cents less than the August price and 4.4 cents below the record price in July. The price spread from cattlemen to consumers was at a record 44.8 cents a pound. Last month, this spread was down to 43.3 cents a pound, a decline of 3.3 cents in a month.

When it comes to the typical market basket for food, the decline was impressive, only because a decline had set in. The annual rate for September for food items to feed a typical family for a year was priced at an annual rate of $1,320, down $2 from the record highs of July and August. At least, the movement is in the right direction.

They Bet High

Financial disclosure statements of the Presidential candidates, just released by the General Accounting Office, produced a telltale revelation of how each of the major party candidates' financial offices are finding the money to pay for their campaign.

Senator George McGovern continued to rely heavily on a series of large loans, which he pays from small gifts as they are accumulated.

Loans represented about a third of the total McGovern receipts listed for September 1 to October 16. It added $2.9 million to the $2 million in borrowing reported during August, of which $2.3 million was outstanding.

In mid-September, Nicholas and Daniel Noyes, brothers who are heirs to the Eli Lilly drug fortune, loaned the McGovern campaign a total of $500,000. Nicholas, 25, is a graduate of Cornell University who obtained conscientious objector status to avoid military duty. Daniel, 23, a Harvard graduate, was said to be a congressional intern.

The Nixon accounts are outright gifts. It became known that of the reported total of $10.2 million given his campaign before April 7, before the new Federal campaign spending law required specific accounting, the largest single gift was $1 million from Richard Mellon Scaife, heir to the Mellon banking fortune, of Pittsburgh. Also, W. Clement Stone of Chicago said he gave the President's campaign $500,000, the same amount he said he gave in 1968.

Large contributors to both campaigns resort to the same tax approach. They parcel their gifts out in $3,000 amounts to various committees to avoid payment of the Federal gift tax—committees of this and that kind of person for the election of the one or the other candidate. It's legal and both sides practice it, even to extend their gifts to a million or a half million. So who says the law halts big gifts and givers?

LOCAL AVIATION CONTROL

THE WORKING POOR—District 65, Distributive Workers of America, representing lower paid and unskilled workers in New York's minor industries, has launched a campaign to organize the working poor. With a predominantly black and Puerto Rican membership, the first aim should be jobs for more of their people.

Aviation is under Federal control, but the Appellate Division of the New Jersey Supreme Court upheld an anti-noise ordinance, saying that a community could regulate sports-parachuting as it does airplanes towing advertising signs. Both are purely local in effect.

The dormitories, put into use in the fall of 1971, were designed by the New York firm of James Baker and Peter Blake, architects.

The Fifth Biennial HUD Design Award certificates were delivered by Clifford W. Graves, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Community Planning and Management, at a luncheon at the annual convention of the American Institute of Planners in Boston Oct. 10.

A five-member jury of professionals selected the winners from nearly 400 entries involved in HUD-assisted planning and construction projects in 41 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

The winners ranged from single buildings to large development programs. Special emphasis was placed on the contribution of environmental designs to human values.

Two categories of awards were made: Urban Design Concept recognized superior large area planning; Project Design included such diverse projects as an urban area "peoples' park," student housing (Bard's modular dorms, International House in Philadelphia, and The Villages at the University of Minnesota), inner-city neighborhood centers, and low and moderate income housing.

Dutchess Towns 'Way Over' Top

RED HOOK The Towns of Rhinebeck, Clinton, La Grange, and Beekman have all gone over the top in the current United Way campaign to set the pace for the rest of Dutchess County.

While the overall county campaign is at the 87 per cent level Rhinebeck has registered 103 per cent, Beekman 102 per cent, Clinton 137 per cent, and LaGrange 115 per cent.

Leigh Saltzman, a veteran United Way campaigner, is town chairman in Rhinebeck while Bob Ferris of Beekman was a novice. Mrs. Jack McEnroe in Clinton has been a top campaigner for several years while Dave Petrovits, LaGrange, played a key role in many campaigns in his town.

Nicholas Russo, chairman in Red Hook and Milan, has those towns at 98 and 90 per cent respectively while Ralph Nieri has reported 96 per cent in Pleasant Valley and Mrs. Philip Lyons has 80 per cent in Pine Plains.

More than 46,000 county residents receive direct results of at least one of the 32 United Way agencies.

Search for Landfill Site Continuing

ELLENVILLE

The Warwarsing Town Board said Thursday night that its long search for a new landfill site is continuing; that an acceptable area has yet been located.

Town residents were invited to propose any possible sites for a landfill; town officials said they will investigate each suggestion.

One town resident had a suggestion; that town officials stay off his property. Joseph Schwartz wrote a letter to the Town Board charging that officials have trespassed on his property to inspect neighboring parcels that could be used for a landfill. Schwartz said he will take legal action if the "trespassing" continues.

Town officials maintain that the property they have crossed belongs to the town.

The existing Kerhonkson landfill site was also discussed, with Town officials stating they will request police patrols at the site to curb the rash of suspicious fires at the landfill.

An extension of Linden Lane in Greenfield Heights was decided to the town, in an otherwise routine board meeting.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK —

Freeman Editorial:

101st Assembly District

(Comprising all of Ulster County except Esopus, Marlboro and Lloyd).

Incumbent H. Clark Bell (Republican-Conservative) is pitted in this election race against an able and aggressive Democratic challenger — Maurice Hinchey Jr. It is a battle of young men and young minds, both of whom are a credit to the community they wish to serve.

However, because of many pragmatic factors, the reelection of Bell is urged by The Freeman.

Bell has proved his political skill and savvy during his previous two terms in Albany. He is already the ninth ranking member in seniority on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. This portends well for Ulster if Bell is returned to "The Hill".

In the past three years, more state aid has been returned to Ulster than has gone out in taxes. For example, in the years 1967-70, state aid to education in this area amounted to $19.8 million. That figure has been increased for '72-'73 to $26 million. Highway redevelopment funds have also found their way to Ulster—of the $100 million allocated for the entire state, our area has received $5 million.

And just as important is that Bell has shown a high degree of fiscal responsibility—actively joining the fight to trim $756 million from Governor Rockefeller's ever-increasing budget.

We feel Bell has been responsive to the community, has a solid record of legislative achievements, deserving the support of the voters.

Transportation Union Tabs Assemblyman

ALBANY — The AFL-CIO's United Transportation Union has endorsed Assemblyman H. Clark Bell for reelection to the New York State Assembly. G. W. Rogers, state director of the UTU announced the endorsement in a letter to Bell. Rogers said his union membership has been urged to assist Bell's reelection. The Republican-Conservative Assemblyman Bell is a hard working legislator who knows the state.

Bell rookie who performs like old pro

By EDMUND KLEIN
Ottawa News Service

What's the difference between an old pro in the legislature and a young rookie? The answer is usually seniority. But there are exceptions to every rule, and such exception in the State Legislature is Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, R-Kingston. Bell, who represents Ulster County, has only four years in the legislature but he performs like an old pro. Maybe it's because he worked with politicians for 16 years before becoming one. Bell, 38, has served as staff counsel to various politicians, both in Albany and Washington, and says this is where he learned how to make the legislative process work.

The fruits of that early and lengthy indoctrination into the political world are clearly visible. Bell seems to be as effective a legislator as the late Kenneth Wilson, his predecessor, who represented Ulster County for 15 years.

In the past four years, 156 of Bell's bills were approved by the Assembly. Of those, 100 cleared the Senate. And of those, 79 were signed into law by the governor. "That's a pretty good batting average," says

Bell. And, in fact, he's right. But what's surprising is that most of these bills are substantive. He are some examples from the 1971-72 session alone:

Physician's assistant—Bell carried this legislation which m renovate the availability of medical care throughout the state. essence, it will create a new job in the medical profession—an assistant doctor. The assistant, or para-medical, would perform many of the same functions as a doctor; he would merely be required to be under the direct supervision of a licensed physician.

The state health department is currently developing proposed guidelines for the new profession, which is intended to increase availability of medical attention while reducing its costs.

Catskill taxes—Bell was primarily responsible for prying loose a i from committee which prohibits the state from reducing the amount of taxes it pays on land in the Catskill Forest Preserve. If the bill had r passed, the state would have begun reducing its own tax bill on the land, until eventually it paid nothing. Bell estimated that if the measure is failed, it would have cost Catskill region governments more than million in revenue.

For Bell

In the 101st Assembly District, we endorse incumbent H. Clark Bell (R-C of Kingston) for re-election.

He has taken firm positions in the war on drug traffic and sales and sponsored successful legislation to increase penalties of convicted pushers. He supports "jailing judges" who don't give drug pushers probation easily.

Bell is an environmentalist and has worked to develop two large state parks in his district. His record also has been good in connection with fiscal and budget matters.

His opponent is Maurice D. Hinchey (D-L of Saugerties) in a district that includes Kingston and western and northern Ulster County.

Hinchey makes the claim that because the district is solidly Republican, it has been taken for granted by the Rockefeller and previous GOP administrations.

With Bell's re-election, he will build the seniority necessary to overcome this alleged deficiency.

"Editorial of the Air"

Delivered October 27, 1972

By Harry M. Thayer

We are for Bell -- H. Clark Bell for a third term in the New York State Assembly. So should the voters of Ulster County.

H. Clark Bell has done an excellent job in Albany representing the interests of the people of Ulster County for four years and that means he has done the same thing for the people of New York State.

Bell is an aggressive, bright, young man with an excellent background of training for his seat in the New York State Assembly. Beyond that, Clark Bell is no "noon to five" Legislator. He puts in long hours day after day working for the people of New York State for, once he is in Albany, he is not representing those who sent him up there, mainly Republicans, but he takes off his coat and rolls up his sleeves for all of us in New York State.

One thing that has impressed us about H. Clark Bell in Albany is that he has not been a "Yes Man" for Nelson. He has had the guts and integrity to vote his own beliefs and concepts and not just the orders sent from "Happes House."

Sen. Buckley Endorses Bell

WASHINGTON, D.C. — United States Senator James L. Buckley has endorsed Assemblyman H. Clark Bell for re-election to the New York State Assembly. Sen. Buckley in a letter to Assemblyman Bell said: "I am taking this opportunity to endorse formally your candidacy for re-election as assemblyman for the 101st Assembly District. Your record of service in Albany and the kind of dedication which has characterized your work on the Assembly floor and in com-

'Condition' Information Is Available

WOODSTOCK

Retinitis Pigmentosa is an eye condition affecting an estimated 100,000 Americans. It is often hereditary.

About a year ago, a foundation was formed in Maryland to raise money to fund a research center to be housed in the Massachusetts Eye Ear Infirmary in Boston. Since the fund raising chapters have been founded in New York State and several other states.

Information on retinitis pigmentosa can be secured locally by contacting Mrs. J. Moss of Calamar Lane, Woodstock or by writing the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation, Post Office Box 5839, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y., 10017.

'School's Open' Campaign Ends

KINGSTON Kingston Police Chief Julius M. Glassman has announced the conclusion of the Automobile Club of New York's 27th annual "School's Open — Drive Carefully" campaign.

Chief Glassman said that members of his department would soon be removing the "School's Open" Posters in Kingston bringing to a close one of the most effective traffic safety campaigns his department has undertaken. He said that the Auto Club had commended his department by noting that "participation by you and the members of your Department has added greatly to this important traffic safety program aimed at protecting school children during the school re-opening period." Chief Glassman pointed out that although policemen, School Crossing Guards and members of the American Automobile Association (AAA) School Safety Patrols are on duty at school crossings throughout the school year, many children still must cross at unprotected corners or may step off the sidewalks between parked cars. He asked motorists to be especially careful when driving in school areas, and near parks and playgrounds.

The chief paid special tribute to residents for their cooperation in making this year's back-to-school period a safe one for the community.

Hospital Patient

The Rev. Msgr. James V. Keating, Episcopal vicar of Ulster County who has been a patient at Albany Medical Center since July was transferred by ambulance Thursday to Benedictine Hospital in Kingston. He is reported to be resting comfortably, according to a report of the hospital.

MAJOR JOHN F. HARRISON

CAPTAIN CARLTON G. GRIFFIN

Veteran Troopers Promoted

MIDDLETOWN—Two veteran officers from Troop F headquarters in Middletown are included in a list of eight commissioned officers promoted to new rank by the New York State Police. Promotions and changes in assignment are effective Thursday, according to William E. Kirwan, State Police superintendent.

Inspector John F. Harrison is being advanced to major and will serve as head of the Traffic Section in Division Headquarters. He replaces Major Clayton Snook, who has retired.

Named the new BCI captain for Troop D in Oneida is Carlton G. Griffin, now the BCI lieutenant at Troop F. Captain Griffin replaces Captain George J. Dana, who will remain at Troop D headquarters as head of the BCI staff with the rank of inspector.

Major Harrison, a native of Port Jervis, joined the State Police in 1948 at Troop C, Sidney, where he was named corporal in 1956 and sergeant in 1959. He served as first sergeant of Troop C and the Thruway troop before promotion to lieutenant in 1963, when he was assigned to the Traffic Section at Division Headquarters in Albany. Two years later he was assigned to the Brunswick station in Troop G and in 1967 was promoted to captain, serving in Troop K, Hawthorne, before coming to Middletown.

Major Harrison and his wife, the former Patricia Rosenkrance, and their two children reside in Middletown.

Captain Griffin, a native of Auburn, graduated from high school there, attended Syracuse University, and served four years with the U.S. Navy before entering the State Police in 1954.

He served in Troop D, Oneida, until 1958, when he was promoted to corporal and transferred to Troop A, Batavia. He returned to Troop D two years later, was promoted to sergeant in 1962 and to BCI investigator in 1966. He was assigned to Troop E in Canandaigua when it was activated in 1967, and promoted to lieutenant in January, serving brief tours of duty in Troops D and K before coming to Middletown.

Captain Griffin is married to the former Janice Kay Buerman. They have two children and live in Newburgh.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post:
Please give me your opinion on this subject.

I always call up friends and relatives to thank them for their thoughtfulness whenever I receive birthday or anniversary cards. I have done this for years.

In a recent conversation I was told this was most unnecessary and uncalled for. Although some of my own family write and express their thanks, many forget or think it does not call for any acknowledgment.

Won't you please give me your opinion as to feel you are "First Lady" of the land on etiquette rules.

I am seventy-five years young and perhaps some people think I belong to a school of forgotten rules.

MRS. D.

Dear Mrs. D:
Rules such as yours should never be forgotten!

Thanking someone for their thoughtfulness is never out of place, and while a thank-you isn't a firm obligation for a birthday card, it is certainly a very nice thing to do. I believe the only reason you have been criticized is that you have made your critics feel guilty at their own lack of appreciation, and they are attempting to justify their lack of thoughtfulness by condemning your consideration.

Dear Mrs. Post:

Recently my husband and I attended a nursing school graduation. After the opening remarks, there was a singer. He sang the Lord's Prayer and did it beautifully. The audience applauded him. Was it proper to applaud a religious song in a public place?

ELSIE MEYERS

Dear Mrs. Meyers:

The singing of hymns and prayers is not applauded in church, but that is because of the location and circumstances. Even though the Lord's Prayer is, of course, religious, a beautiful rendition may be applauded when it is not part of a church ceremony.

A board meeting of Sisterhood of Agudas Achim took place recently at the home of Mrs. Martin Weinberger of 22 Scudder Avenue, Kingston. Mrs. Sidney Weinberger, program chairman, discussed plans for the paid-up membership dinner to be held Wednesday evening at 6:30 at the Synagogue. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Robert Selinger or Mrs. Irving Rudolph.

Dessert at the membership dinner will be provided by Mrs. Manuel Lipton in honor of her new grandson.

The 50th anniversary convention of the Women's Branch of UOJCA will take place Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 12-14, at Hotel Bonaventure in Montreal, Canada. Those interested in this program should contact Mrs. Robert Selinger or Mrs. Howard Gershon.

The Synagogue's youth group, NCSY, held a successful bake sale in October. Participating in the project were Mrs. Morton Levine, Mrs. Jack Epstein, Mrs.

Harry Katzoff, Mrs. Irving Rudolph, Mrs. Ted Weiner, Mrs. Mike Weiner, Mrs. Herman Schneider, Mrs. Sidney Weinberger, Miss Polly Lewis, Miss Nancy Weinberger, and Miss Sandy Lipton.

Response Urged for Hospital Dinner

Reservations for the $100 a couple Ellenville Hospital Dinner are coming in at a steady pace, according to Arthur C. Chipp and Leo Rosick, co-chairmen of the fund raising event to support the hospital equipment fund.

The gala dinner-dance is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 19, at the Homowack Lodge, Spring Glen. This year's event will honor Louis and Harry Resnick for their notable efforts on behalf of the community institution.

The co-chairmen noted that "we'd like to see widespread community support for this year's event because the needs of the hospital continuously grow. Ellenville Community Hospital has been a dependable source of pride and confidence to all residents of our area. It has earned the respect and praise of many part time residents, vacationers and visitors. In order to maintain the high standards of health care all of us would want for ourselves, our loved ones, and our friends and neighbors, the hospital must each year keep pace with modern technology. For this new life-saving diagnostic and therapeutic equipment, the hospital must depend on community support. The annual dinner-dance sponsored by the Board of Directors provides the most pleasant of all ways to demonstrate support of this community institution."

Reservations for the November 19 gala may be made by contacting the co-chairmen or any member of the hospital board, or by phoning hospital administrator Evald Bors Koefoed.

The clearest choice of the century is on November 7th.

If you don't make it, someone else will.

Never mind the polls. Make sure your vote is counted on Tuesday, November 7th.

Many a candidate who "won" in October wound up losing in November. Often because their supporters, confident of victory, didn't bother to vote on election day.

The choice this year is between President Nixon's determination to end the Vietnam war after first securing the release of our POWs and granting the South Vietnamese the right to choose their own form of government, and Senator McGovern's plan to simply walk out.

It's a choice between the President's program of sound economic growth based on America's private enterprise system, and Senator McGovern's radical tax, income and welfare schemes.

It's a choice between the President's record of maintaining a strong defense, and Senator McGovern's willingness to slash the defense budget to an extent that would make the U. S. a second-class power.

President Nixon's views are actually the views of most Americans. But if those Americans don't turn their views into votes on election day, maybe it won't be their views that win out.

So remember to make the choice of the century your choice on November 7th. Rain or shine. Because when you consider the alternative, America does need President Nixon—now more than ever.

President Nixon.
Now more than ever.

It's Appalling to Ask 'Who Is Calling?'

DEAR ABBY: I am an executive. I employ a vast number of people, and receive a staggering number of telephone calls daily, but I would never allow my secretary to ask, "May I tell him who is calling?"

When I make a phone call personally and receive such treatment, I feel insulted. Enclosed is a poem I clipped some years ago from the Wall Street Journal. It reflects my sentiments perfectly:

When calling Mr. Jones
I find it most appalling
To have his secretary ask,
"May I tell him who is calling?"

One of these days
When I find it all too taxing,
I'll come right back to her and say,
"May I ask you, WHO IS ASKING?"

OFFENDED IN HOUSTON
DEAR OFFENDED:

A man with such ability
And obvious humility
Deserves some loud hosannas
(If he doesn't go bananas.)
EDGAR ALLAN PO-PO

DEAR ABBY: What's all this nonsense about being hurt or mad because your husband doesn't call you by your first name? I am married to a man who hasn't called me by my first name for the last 19 years and 361 days!

So what? I rarely call him by his first name. I usually say, "Hey" or "Say there, Sugar Pie," to get his attention. Neither one of us is sadistic, as you suggested, and I strongly resent your inference that we may be.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

When I tell my husband the phone is for him, why must I say, "Harry, it's for you?"

When my husband asks me what I want from the store, I know he's speaking to me, and I know my name is Mary, so why must he use it?

Desiring to hear your name spoken unnecessarily seems to me a case of extreme vanity and childishness.

MARY: DEAR MARY: YOU may not object if your husband never calls you by your name. And frankly, I wouldn't object either. However, the woman who wrote to me objected very much, and even after having begged her husband to please speak her name occasionally, he refused to do it. And I think that's downright mean!

DEAR ABBY: A couple we know and like very much recently parted and are getting divorced.

Another couple, friends of both of them gave a housewarming for the husband to welcome him to his new bachelor apartment—gifts, drinks, food, etc.

It has always been our opinion that divorce is heartbreak for at least one of the parties, and only a perverted sense of values justifies anything like this. Or are we just a couple of old squares?

PUZZLED: DEAR PUZZLED: Generally speaking, I see nothing wrong with warming the house of either party, but you suggest in this case, the husband is now a happy bachelor, but the wife is heartbroken. If that's true, then you are inaccurately describing the couple.

Postmaster Issues 'Statements' Charge

KINGSTON Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk today charged in Kingston that statements by magazine publishers that postage rates for magazines have been greatly increased "are exaggerated and misleading."

"An average popular magazine now costs only 3.2 cents in postage fees per copy to mail, and these are the new increased rates," Newkirk said. He noted that postage rates for the same type of magazines early in 1971 were two and a half cents per average magazine. That was increased in May of 1971 to three cents and to 3.2 cents on July 6 of this year.

Newkirk said that the postage rates for mailing magazines were "extremely reasonable" when compared to the rates for first class mail weighing one ounce or less which costs eight cents or the price for an eight-ounce advertising circular which costs 13 cents.

"Reports about increases of 127 per cent and up have promoted the impression that the changes amount to much more than is really involved in the July 6, changes," Newkirk said. The reports which refer to increases of more than 127 per cent he said refer to the total increase phased in over five years for "regular" rate second class mail, such as reorganization law.

"The Postal Service is concerned of course even about the second class rate increase because we want to keep rates as low as possible," Newkirk said. "However, newspaper and magazines have been heavily subsidized in the past and the Postal Service is required to gradually eliminate this subsidy under postal reorganization law."

Lecture at Marist

Genetics and Future of Man

By TIM SCHUSTER

POUGHKEEPSIE If man should soon possess the technical know-how to select and control genetic traits in his offspring, should he do it? Who decides what is desirable? What if, say, Russia develops a "super-race" and we don't? Should our government limit population?

These were some of the questions brought up by Dr. Ivan Huber, assistant professor of Genetics and Entomology at Fairleigh Dickinson University, in presenting a lecture to persons of the Marist College Community recently at the North Road campus in Poughkeepsie.

While not giving the answers to any politically-oriented questions, he explained the scientific angles and progress in the field of genetics, and forecast some possible developments that might occur in the very near future.

The title he gave his talk was "Man-made Man: An Ethics for Transdarwinian Evolution." Having coined the word "transdarwinian" he explained it as meaning those changes imposed by man's prearranged selection, not natural selection, such as intelligence or musical accomplishments in the genetic are "test tube babies." RHINEBECK A computer terminal has been installed at Rhinebeck Central School, linked to a Dutchess County BOCES computer in Poughkeepsie, for use by junior and senior high school students and faculty.

The terminal resembles a teletypewriter, and is rented through BOCES from Shared Educational Computer System, Poughkeepsie. It is available to any interested student.

According to high school Principal Erwin Kane, the computer can be a "very effective tool in teaching, if properly utilized."

The most apparent use is that of a tutor. The computer contains various programs that can provide a weaker student with exercise to supplement regular school work. Programs are available in spelling, arithmetic, foreign languages, and sciences.

A highly desirable feature of computer assisted instruction is the immediate feedback — the student finds out in seconds whether or not he is right.

Another application is computer programming. Students may write and enter into the computer sets of instructions called programs. In effect, the computer is taught by the students how to solve certain problems.

Usually, in the process of teaching the computer, a student gains insight into the problem. There are virtually no limits as to how simple or how involved a program can be.

Thus, the computer can be programmed not only by a senior, but even by a seventh grader. The student experiences a thrill when his program, after some "debugging" (mistake elimination), finally does what it was meant to do.

A Computer Club has been organized for students and the faculty has had preliminary instruction on use of the terminal. Carl Mayer and Charles Sherman of the science and mathematics departments have been instructing students and faculty on computer uses.

Professor Judges Film Festival

ANANDALE-ON-HUDSON Adolfas Mekas, visiting instructor in film at Bard College, was a judge at the recent Film Festival in Mannheim, Germany.

One of his own films, "Going Home," was included in the New York Film Festival with a screening Oct. 4, and will also be in the London Film in November.

Since Mekas was one of the judges, his film was shown but not entered at Mannheim. While in Europe he sold TV rights on "Going Home" in Germany, Belgium and Scandinavia. It will probably be shown at Bard in late November or December.

In describing his film Mekas said it was "accidental-like a home movie." It is concerned with a visit he made to his mother in Lithuania. He was not planning to make a movie but it occurred to him as he was getting ready to leave. "Let's take a camera."

After his return to this country he did not once realize that the Lithuanian sequences contained a real film—his editing produced no ordinary home movie.

Other Adolfas Mekas films include "Hallelujah the Hills," "The Brig," "The Double-Barrelled Detective Story," "Windflowers," and "Companeros and Companeros."

Asked how he feels about teaching at Bard, Mekas explained that he feels it is important to a film-maker to be in touch with young people, with the range of their thinking and interests, and that this is possible at Bard.

A comforting sight on a cold Fall night . . . and the price is right!

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened higher today as advancing issues took a strong lead over declining ones.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up almost 1 point in moderate trading.

A long-awaited rally swept Wall Street last week, as Vietnam peace developments fueled investor hopes. Analysts also attributed the gain to the anticipation of President Nixon's re-election and tardy recognition of favorable economic factors.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials posted an advance of 37.70 points for the week, with a rise of 11.06 on Friday.

Kilmer in Driver's Seat Now

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Kilmer got in the "driver's seat" Sunday and drove the New York Jets right out of title contention.

Kilmer, who regained his starting status last week, Sonny Jurgensen was knocked out for the season with a ruptured Achilles tendon, threw scoring passes of 45, 70 and 89 yards to lead the Washington Redskins to a 35-17 rout of the Jets. The victory was the seventh against one loss for Washington while the Jets' record fell to 5-3.

More importantly, however, was the fact that it dropped New York three games behind Miami in the American Conference East and with six games left, the Jets need a miracle to take the title.

Kilmer, ousted from his quarterback job three weeks ago by Jurgensen, exploited the weak New York secondary with TD passes of 45 yards to Roy Jefferson on his first attempt of the day, and 70 yards to Charley Taylor before team-ming with Larry Brown on an 89-yard screen pass that the NFL rushing leader took for a score.

"I'm in the driver's seat now," Kilmer said. "I have to produce or not produce. It's up to me to see that we keep winning. I can play my game now and do what I think is best for us. I just took what they gave me today."

Kilmer said he felt no pressure now that he's No. 1 and thinks, instead, it may have helped open up his game.

"I can feel free now to pitch the ball when I feel like it," he explained. "When you have two quarterbacks fighting for the same job, you tend to get conservative. You're afraid to make mistakes, thinking maybe the coach will pull you and put in the other guy. Now that it's all up to me, I feel free to do more things, to take more chances."

Kilmer's 45-yarder to Jefferson split a zone defense and his 70-yard play to Taylor caught the Jets flat-footed in a third-and-two on the Washington 30. "They did a super job on our running game," Kilmer said, referring to the fact that the Jets held Brown to only 46 yards, almost 60 under his average. "We needed the big play and we got it."

Redskin Coach George Allen lauded his defense, which turned in two scores, one a 31-yard pass interception return by linebacker Chris Hanburger and the other a 16-yard run with a recovered fumble by defensive end Verlon Biggs, a former Jet.

"The key to the victory was our pass rush," Allen said. "Joe Namath is great at picking out secondary receivers but we didn't give him time to do that today. We put tremendous pressure on him. Whenever your defense scores two touchdowns, you know they've played a great game."

Namath, forced to scramble on his surgical knees more than at any time in recent years, agreed with Allen's evaluation.

"Their defense has a good reputation and they deserve it," he said. "They really ran me."

My legs didn't bother me but those guys on the other side of the line sure were a problem."

Namath completed 15 of 28 passes for 128 yards and a touchdown but had three interceptions, two by Hanburger, and was forced to throw on the run often. His fumble late in the game allowed Biggs to score the final TD.

New York lost linebacker Paul Crane for the remainder of the season when he suffered a knee injury. He underwent surgery Sunday night.

The Redskins play host to the New York Giants next Sunday while the Jets entertain the Buffalo Bills.

Young Giants Clicking

NEW YORK (UPI) — The game was already decided Sunday when the Denver Broncos, trailing by 12 points, had a first down on the New York Giants' 10-yard-line with only a minute remaining.

But Jim Garrett, the gung-ho Giant defensive coach, thinks one of the most significant things about the Giants' 29-17 victory over the Broncos Sunday was the fact that the Giants' young defensive unit stopped the Broncos four downs later on the three to take possession again.

"That takes a lot of character to stop a team when the result is already decided and I think that's going to pay off for us," Garrett insisted.

The Giants, who were a joke in the National Football League with a 4-10 record last season but are now 5-3 this season, will need a bit more than that character if they are still to be the contender they claim they are even though they're two games back in the NFC East.

"I'm not surprised we're doing this well," said Ron Johnson, who gained 89 yards in 26 carries. "I've said all along that we were going to be a good club."

It wasn't exactly a sterling performance by the Giants, though, obviously looking ahead to next week's rematch with Washington after suffering the frustrating 23-16 loss to the Redskins last week, the Giants were outgained in yardage 330-316 by the Broncos but took advantage of Denver mistakes to get a 19-0 halftime lead.

John Ralston, the rookie Denver coach, yanked Charley Johnson in favor of Steve Ramsey early in the third period after the Giants intercepted their third pass. But Johnson came back late in the final period and Ralston said he's still his starting quarterback.

Johnson just had a flat day," Ralston said. "He started off OK but things went bad."

Denver marched from its own 30 to the Giant 30 the first time the Broncos had the ball but Richmond Flowers intercepted a pass on the Giant five. "It was an emotional letdown that we had a good drive and didn't get any points," Ralston said.

The teams traded punts and New York then got another key break. Charley Greer intercepted a Norm Snead pass on the Denver 13 and returned it to midfield. But Randy Montgomery was guilty of holding on the play and the Giants got the ball back on the Denver 25. Two plays later, Bob Tucker went 13 yards on an end around for the first TD.

The Giants added two TDs late in the first half. Joe Orduna, the rookie from Nebraska, scored on a fourth down one-yard drive to cap a 92-yard drive with 35 seconds left.

Two plays after Orduna's score, Jim Files intercepted a Johnson pass and went 37 yards 17-9, and 10th-ranked Auburn fought off tough Florida 26-20, with

OVER FOR SIX—Fourth down plunge by Joe Orduna, a rookie from Nebraska, results in a Giant touchdown in the second quarter against the Denver Broncos in Yankee Stadium Sunday. Defenders include Lyle Alzado (77) and Fred Fosberg (52). Orduna replaced running back Charlie Evans who broke his leg in the first quarter. Giants won, 29-7. (UPI)

ROADBLOCK—Rangers' goalie Ed Giacomin blocks the net after hitting away Flyers' Bob Kelly's shot in the first period in Philadelphia. Kelly had scored earlier. Rangers won, 3-2. (UPI)

Rangers Win, 3-2

By United Press International
Now that he's suffered through the agony of a three-week vacation, Ed Giacomin would like nothing better than to set up his friend and rival, Gilles Villemure, with a similar rest.

Giacomin, an All-Star goaltender two years ago, was sat down by Ranger Coach Emile Francis three weeks ago after he allowed 19 goals in four games. He remained on the bench through the next eight games as Villemure went unbeaten through the first seven of them, finally losing at Pittsburgh Saturday night.

Giacomin got another chance Sunday night and he turned in a steady performance as New York overcame a two-goal deficit to beat the Philadelphia Flyers, 3-2. Since Francis likes to go with the "hot" goaltender, Giacomin can assure himself of a lot more work with more winning performances.

Bob Kelly scored in the first period for Philadelphia and Bill Clement made it 2-0 midway through the second before Brad Park and Rod Gilbert retaliated with power play goals to tie the score. Bobby Rousseau then got the winner at 18:37 of the second period.

Only one other of the six NHL games played Sunday resulted in a winning decision, with the Boston Bruins taking that one by a 4-2 count over the Vancouver Canucks. Elsewhere, the Pittsburgh Penguins and Detroit Red Wings played to a 1-1 tie, the Toronto Maple Leafs and Atlanta Flames deadlocked at 2-2 and the California Golden Seals held the Chicago Black Hawks to a 3-3 tie.

Frank St. Marselle deflected a shot by Chris Evans into the net midway through the second period to offset a first-period goal by Mike Robitaille and give St. Louis its draw at Buffalo.

The Bruins scored three times in the first period to win their first game on the West Coast after a loss and a tie.

Syl Apps scored in the first minute of the third period for Pittsburgh and Mickey Redmond countered with Detroit's only goal with less than five minutes to play.

A third-period goal by Ron Harris, his first of the season, enabled Atlanta to gain its tie against Toronto and Pit Martin salvaged a point for Chicago against the Seals by scoring with only 3:40 left to play.

Jets Topple Raiders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
You have to score to win in the World Hockey Association. You also have to shoot if you want to score.

The New York Raiders did very little of both Sunday night—and it cost them a game.

The Raiders didn't take a shot in the first period and quickly fell behind 3-0 while the Winnipeg Jets were taking 17 shots on goal.

That was more than enough for the Jets, who skated to an easy 3-1 triumph over the Raiders.

The Jets held a clear territorial edge over the Raiders, raining shots on New York goalie Gary Kurt. Winnipeg's Joe Daley had an easy time of it in the first period and in fact, faced only 18 shots by New York in the whole game.

Winnipeg, meanwhile, fired 35 at the besieged Kurt.

In the other WHA games Sunday, the Minnesota Fighting Saints tripped the Philadelphia Blazers 3-1; the Los Angeles Sharks topped the Houston Aeros 4-0; the Quebec Nordiques trimmed the Chicago Cougars 3-2 and the Ottawa Nationals turned back the Alberta Oilers.

In Saturday's WHA games, New England topped Philadelphia 8-4; Cleveland bested Quebec 5-3 and Los Angeles stopped Chicago 3-2 in overtime.

Daley was not obliged to make a save for Winnipeg until the 28-second mark of the second period. But by that time, the Jets had a three-goal lead, courtesy of scores by Larry Hornung, Danny Johnson and Ab McDonald.

New York's only goal was scored by Brian Perry on a power play in the third period.

Fred Speck scored twice, including a goal into an empty net with just 17 seconds remaining, as Minnesota edged Philadelphia. Goaltie Marcel Paille of the Blazers kicked out 40 shots in an outstanding performance.

Region Title To OCC Colts

FARMINGDALE Orange totaled 49 points to nudge the Aggies by four. Suffolk with 69 ran third followed by Nassau, Queensborough and Staten Island. Ulster County Community College, the Mid-Hudson Conference runner-up, was led by Dennis O'Dell's 26th place and finished well out of the running.

Alex Smith of Kingsborough Community, the favored barrier in the event, took the individual first place with a good 20:37.8 time, more than a minute better than Thorpe.

The Colts will represent the region in the NJCAA Championship in Pensacola, Fla., next Saturday.

Football Is Game of Numbers

By STEVE KANE KINGSTON
As the eighth week of UCAL football proved once again, football is a game of numbers. Numbers like defensive statistics where Rondout ranks No. 1 and Ellenville is No. 2. No real surprise then that the Ganders recorded their sixth shutout of the year and bumped the Blue Devils out of the league lead.

In Region Soccer UCCC Opens With Nassau

STONE RIDGE Mid-Hudson Conference champion Ulster County Community College has been seeded second in the Region XV soccer playoffs which begin on Tuesday.

Staten Island, a team the Senators never got to play, has been seeded first on the basis of their 11-0-1 record and their fourth-place NJCAA national ranking.

Ulster, ranked ninth nationally, will take its 12-1 slate up against Nassau, a 5-3-2 team and the seventh seed in the tournament in the quarterfinal matchup. Other seedings are: Queensborough, third, Westchester, fourth, Orange County, fifth, Rockland, sixth, and Suffolk, eighth.

With all games being played on neutral fields, the Senators will begin their quest against Nassau at Westchester. The metropolitan school is not an opponent Ulster will take lightly.

"They're always powerhouse," said UCCC coach George Vizvary. He pointed out that despite winning only five games, one of them was at the expense of Cantonville, the nation's fifth-ranked team, in a game played in Baltimore, Md.

"Last year they were runner up in the regionals and represented the Region XV as an at-large team in the nationals," he continued. "I think we're ready for them, though. The only thing that may hurt us is the week of stalling we've gone through, but we've been practicing hard."

Ulster's final game was cancelled after the Staten Island team was involved in a traffic accident that injured several of their players. The S.I. squad will be playing their first game in over two weeks against Suffolk at Farmingdale. Suffolk has an 8-5-2 record.

The other first-round matchups will pit Queensborough

And offensive statistics where Red Hook is best, as the Raiders dazzled Marlboro and vaulted into first place.

The other games around the league had New Paltz holding off Onteora, Highland nipping Pine Bush and Liberty thumping Walkkill.

Saving the best for last isn't always the best way to do things as Dave Frank and his Ellenville charges discovered Saturday. Against their seven prior opponents the Ellices were always the aggressor on the field and battled their way to a 6-1 record en route. This performance earned them the favorite's role against the Ganders.

Rondout, on the other hand, experienced a more thorough gamut of emotional peaks that included two heartbreaking ties and one very frustrating defeat. Through it all, however, the Ganders gave up just 18 points and played defense like nobody else.

Whitewashing the erratic Ellenville offense was all in a day's work for the Ganders. As to scoring 13 points themselves, may be that was just a matter of time.

When it comes to numbers, it's hard to beat Red Hook from any angle. Averaging well over 200 yards per game in total offense, the Raiders did it again against the outmanned Dukes and picked up a 21-8 decision. The score could have been much higher.

Aside from scoring three touchdowns and having two more called back via penalties, the Raiders did it all after waiting the better part of the first half with lethargic play around the mid-field strip. Numbers? Coach John Neilson is loaded with them.

Working out of wishbone T's power T's, slot formations, shotgun and just about anything else you can think of, Neilson had seven different backs running the ball, two passers combining for a 13-for-18 performance, a defense that sacked the other quarterback six times and used every player he had in the game.

Two spectacular touchdown bombs by Onteora's Charlie Mazzola in the last minutes of the game brought a little life to the crowd at New Paltz, but the Hugenots had the perfect defense for that possibility—they'd already scored three times themselves.

It was the Hugies second win of the season as they escaped the cellar for the first time this year.

Highland proved it only takes one to win, that is if you don't give any away to the other guy. Trailing by a safety, the game's lone score up to the final period, Frank Diodato linked up with Tom Rozzi for an 85-yard aerial that assured the Big Blue of another winning season.

The most impressive numbers in Liberty are all on the weight chart. Woody Witherwax's round Redskins squashed the Panthers purple. Jim Masters got 16 more points to boost his lead in the scoring race.

But the Indians were out of the race long ago. With three losses, you can't be No. 1.

Hill Tops Trevino

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "I just thank God I didn't have to make any of those little ol' three-and-four-foot putts to save par," Mike Hill said.

He didn't. At least until the last hole and it didn't matter then as the 33-year-old Hill methodically carved out a front-running 69 in the final round Sunday, turned back the challenge of Lee Trevino and won the revived Texas Open Golf Tournament.

"Well," shrugged Trevino. "I tried. He put me down with a string of three straight birdies on the back side that just about did it."

Hill, who led from the second round on, didn't falter in the growing pressure of Trevino's charge, posted a 273 total on the 7,011-yard, par-72 Woodlake Golf Club course and secured his second tour triumph in a five-year career.

He also picked up a check of $25,000. It nailed down his exemption for next year's tournaments—he said early in the week the quest of that exemption was the only reason he had come to this event—and achieved his biggest money-winning season with almost $67,000.

Trevino, winner of four titles, including the British Open, matched the day's best round with a 67 and took second at 275. He closed out his season with a total of $214,805, second only to Jack Nicklaus who did not play.

Little Maroons Get 11th Win

KINGSTON
Kingsborough High Schools' junior varsity soccer team completed their season on a winning note Friday by defeating visiting Poughkeepsie at the Chambers School field, 3-1.

Dave Farrell, Randy Freeman and Jim Mathews hit the net for the Maroons as the winners scored in each of the last three quarters. Bill Davis picked up assists in the second and fourth periods.

The win boosted the little Maroon booters to an 11-2-1 season with one of the defeats a forfeit to Spackenkill.

Duane ... Last Minute Charge

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The San Diego Chargers activated running back Duane Thomas an hour before their game Sunday with the Dallas Cowboys.

Thomas, traded to the Chargers by Dallas before the start of the season, had not signed and had appeared in camp only on occasion.

The 1973 Super Beetle is a whole different car inside.

For one thing, there's a lot more inside, inside. We're giving you plenty of legroom up front. And fantastic headroom.

We've also done a nice thing for your nose. Our new windshield is pushed way forward, and curved. It's actually 42% larger.

For comfort, the seats, too, are curved. The same way what you sit on is. And the same way your back is.

Inertia type seatbelts buckle up as standard equipment.

The padded dash is completely redesigned. To be read in a flash.

Getting in and out of the back seat of the Bug is now pretty easy even for non-athletic types.

And we've had some very fresh ideas about air. And how to circulate it. Our remarkable improved ventilation system even de-fogs the side windows.

Altogether, the interior of the 1973 Super Beetle is so radically different, you'd have a hard time knowing it was a Beetle, except for the steering wheel insignia.

There remain, however, certain things that will give you the clue that you're driving a VW.

Economy. Dependability. Our good old never-give-up character.

The beauty of the new inside may be its beauty. But the fact that it comes in the car it does, is the most beautiful part of all.

Few things in life work as well as a Volkswagen.

76ers Fat Zero

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers are literally zeroing in on a National Basketball Association record.

After Sunday night's 131-113 loss to the Milwaukee Bucks, the hapless and helpless 76ers are two games away from tying the NBA record for most losses at the start of a season.

Their latest escapade was their 13th loss without a victory this year and put them in a choice position to catch the negative record of 15 shared by Denver and Cleveland.

Denver lost 15 at the start of the season when it had an NBA franchise in 1949 and the Cavaliers dropped that many in 1970, their first year.

The longest losing streak is 17—shared by the San Francisco team of 1964 and the old San Diego franchise of 1968.

Milwaukee reserve forward Gary Gregor was mostly responsible for Philadelphia's latest collapse, scoring 21 points and hauling in 15 rebounds.

Gregor entered the game in the opening quarter and helped the Bucks wipe out an early 12-point Philadelphia lead.

In the other NBA games Sunday night, the Los Angeles Lakers trimmed the Seattle SuperSonics 124-115 and the Phoenix Suns nipped Cleveland 107-106.

Only two games were played in the American Basketball Association as the San Diego Conquistadors ran away from the Virginia Squires 132-121 and the Denver Rockets routed the New York Nets 137-107.

Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain combined for 59 points to lead Los Angeles over Seattle. West hit on 14 of 23 shots and finished with a game-high 35 points while Chamberlain raced up 16 of his 24 points in the second half, when the Lakers pulled away.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

MARRIED: (Q.) David used to come o see me every week, sometimes twice. We never went anywhere. We just sat and talked. He kept telling me he loved me.
When I heard he was married I couldn't believe it. I wrote a note to congratulate him. I tried to hand it to him in the hall but he wouldn't take it. He just said, "I don't want it," and frowned.
I tried to have a baby shower for his wife but she refused. She called me a dirty name. All I do is cry. I don't think I can ever get over this. Don't you think he should have told me he didn't love me any more before he got married?—Miserable in Maine.

(A.) What David should have done is not the question now. He is married, and the kindest gift you can give him and his wife is to leave them alone.

The kindest gift you can give yourself is to start putting him out of your mind and start talking to and thinking about other boys. To try to hold onto him, as you have been doing, will only prolong your unhappiness.

Today, now, wish him well in your heart and let him go. THEFT: (Q.) I am 12. I love my parents but last summer I stole some money from them and lied on top of that. They found out and I got punished.

I still don't feel right. What can I do to make them know that I am sorry?—Hurting in Connecticut.

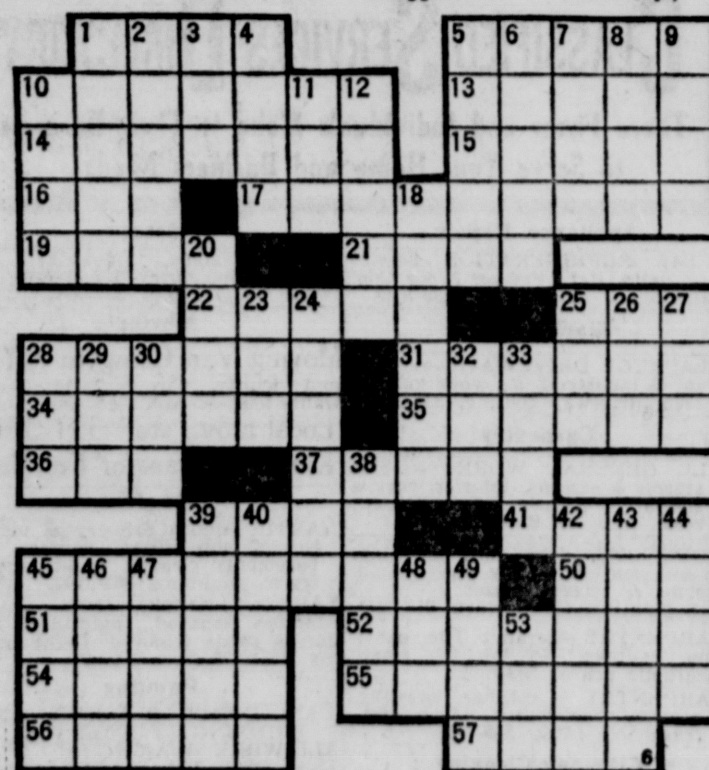

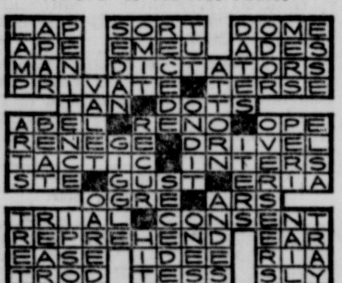

(A.) Ask your parents to forgive you. After you have done that, win back their trust and your own self-respect by telling and living the truth.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Meet the Press... 'Survives'

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-five years ago today "Meet the Press" went on television amid the misgivings of its producer and regular panellist, Lawrence E. Spivak. He didn't think it would work out.

The guest was James A. Farley, the former postmaster general and national chairman of the Democratic party. He survived the show. So did Spivak. And "Meet the Press," born on radio two years earlier, went on to become a Sunday institution on NBC television.

There have been 1,215 "Meet the Press" programs since Farley's appearance, with more than 1,500 leading public figures put in the hot seat to answer questions posed by Spivak and other reporters.

The guests have ranged from Robert Frost to the President of Togo, but the majority have been American political luminaries with names such as Kennedy, Goldwater, Johnson, Humphrey, Dewey.

When the show began, it was done at the NBC station in New York and was seen only in the New York area. The NBC television network as we know it today still was a long way in the future.

Spivak said he worried at the time that television might damage the image he thought the radio audience had of the guests and reporters on "Meet the Press."

He said he felt "it might be a mistake to go from radio to television because in radio a listener brought his own imagination to the show, while on television well, there you were."

"But the moment I saw the first show I realized how wrong I was and that television added a very, very important dimension to the program."

The show now comes from Washington, but its format hasn't changed much in 25 years. It still consists of a moderator and four panellists — Spivak and three other journalists. The panel is expanded on special occasions.

Spivak declines to say which have been the best and worst of his 1,500-plus guests. It would be a hard choice, considering the range.

Last Oct. 22, a reporter on the ABC's "Issues and Answers" program continues to stimulate interest and excitement and as question he said had been suggested by a White House official, I'll keep going."

'Talks to Resume Soon'... Secretary Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers predicts that secret peace talks with the North Vietnamese will resume in the near future, but that a final agreement on a Vietnam cease-fire probably is "several weeks" away.

The North Vietnamese chief negotiator, Xuan Thuy, said, meanwhile, that the Communists would agree to another "final" meeting if conditions are right. "The question is seriousness" on the part of the United States he added.

While indications mounted that negotiations would soon be resumed, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird acknowledged that the United States is speeding up deliveries of military equipment to South Vietnam.

Laird said this would "enhance negotiations."

Rogers said Sunday that the United States has been in contact with the North Vietnamese through diplomatic channels, "and I have every reason to think that the negotiations in the private channels will resume in the near future."

He was interviewed on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Rogers repeated past statements of the administration that the basic agreement has been reached. However, he said, "one more series of meetings" is needed to resolve "some ambiguities" and mentioned three.

He said they include a definition of the role of a joint council to administer the cease-fire and supervise elections; the timetable for positioning of an international force to supervise the cease-fire, and the question of North Vietnamese troops remaining in the South.

Asked when final agreement is likely, Rogers said: "I think it would be several weeks. Whether it runs into more than that I am not sure." He added he has "no doubt, though, about the outcome."

The secretary of state also said he thinks it is unfair to consider South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu as the lone "villain" blocking the tentative agreement reached between the United States and the North Vietnamese in Paris Oct. 8.

Thuy said in an interview in Sunday's New York Times that if, in another meeting, "the U.S. agrees and then proposes more changes, it would be very difficult to settle things."

He claimed again that President Nixon had proposed signing a cease-fire agreement on Oct. 31 and then backed down. He also contended that, had the United States made the same concessions four years ago that it has made in recent negotiations, "Peace could have come in 1969... We would have accepted conditions like the present ones."

Defense Secretary Laird said in an interview that military reinforcements for South Vietnam prior to a cease-fire "assures the South Vietnamese they will have the capability to provide their own in-country security."

Reds Down Two American Copters

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist gunners shot down two American helicopters Sunday and forced another to make an emergency landing with a wounded crewman aboard within 14 miles of Da Nang, military spokesmen said today.

Three Americans were killed and a fourth died later of wounds he suffered in the incident.

UPI reporter Edward Bassett reported from the scene that another American was wounded.

Bassett said the first of the helicopters, an AH1 Cobra gunship, was shot down one-half mile west of Highway 1, 14 miles south of Da Nang, while attacking a Communist bunker complex. The gunner was killed and the pilot wounded.

An OH6 Cayuse light observation helicopter went in to rescue the crew, picked up the wounded pilot and was hit by ground fire. One crewman was killed and the chopper forced to land on the highway.

Eight hours later, another OH6 Cayuse flying within three miles of the first crash, was shot down when Communists set off a claymore mine as the craft flew a few feet above the ground. One crewman was killed and a second died en route to a hospital, Bassett said.

The helicopter was searching for rockets aimed at Da Nang.

The U.S. command reported B52 bombers carried out three strikes during the past three days than at any other 72-hour time during the entire war.

Through noon today, spokesmen said, B52s made 32 strikes, exceeding the previous high of 28 strikes reported Aug. 10-13.

One of the latest Stratofort strikes, the command said, was only 130 miles south of Hanoi. That made it the northernmost strike by the big Stratoforts in nearly seven months. In addition, the command said, American fighter bombers made 120 strikes Sunday into North Vietnam. In two of the strikes, Navy pilots reported destroying railroad bridges 32 and 40 miles north of Vinh, located nearly 170 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ).

Radio Hanoi accused the United States of carrying out "annihilation raids."

Elsewhere in the war, Communists stabbed closer to Saigon than any time since May, 1968, when they battled government militiamen five miles southwest of the city. Military sources said militiamen intercepted a water-borne Communist unit at dusk Sunday and then again four hours later, captured two sampans and killed 10 Communist troops.

It was the closest Communist approach to the capital since the 1968 offensive when North Vietnamese battled allied troops in the city's suburbs. It also was the first activity since Communist troops began pushing into Saigon's outer defenses five weeks ago.

Other battles were reported at five other points around Saigon—17 and 35 miles northwest of the city, 16 and 35 miles north of the city and 30 miles southwest of the city.

In the clashes, 47 Communists died, military spokesmen said, while nine government soldiers were killed and 14 wounded.

Warning From Protestant Extremists

BELFAST (UPI) — Protestant extremists who said they represent a majority in Northern Ireland warned Sunday they will declare the strife-torn province independent unless Britain restores power to the local parliament.

A statement by the Ulster Defense Association also warned it will carry out more commando-type raids in the Irish Republic unless the Roman Catholic and illegal Irish Republican Army (IRA) halts its own bombing campaign in the north.

The Northern Ireland parliament was suspended last March when London imposed direct rule on the province, lacerated by political rivalries and rent by three years of bloody sectarian strife.

"We shall have our parliament with suitably developed powers to meet our needs," the Ulster Defense Association said, "or we shall disencumber ourselves altogether of a government disgraced by its security performance and broken promises."

The statement also said the organization carried out the Sunday bombing of a mineral water plant in the Irish Republic town of Muff, just across the border to the south. It was the fourth time in three weeks the organization said it had struck in the south.

Police said no one was hurt in the bombing.

The Protestant extremists said they would stop their bombing raids only when the IRA ceased its attacks in the north.

In its fight against terrorism and subversion, the British army said it scored a major triumph Saturday by capturing convicted killer Augustus "Gusty" Spence, 40, a leader of the Ulster Volunteer Force. This is an extremist Protestant guerrilla group formed as a counterforce to the IRA.

Spence was caught at a roadblock in the Shankill area of Belfast. He became the target of a police hunt after escaping in July.

Heath Reshuffles British Cabinet

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath took his battle to check soaring inflation prices and incomes to be followed by a longer period during which weekly wage increases would be limited to $4.70 and price rises to five per cent.

The free would take effect immediately.

Heath probably would announce a 90-day statutory freeze on prices and incomes to be followed by a longer period during which weekly wage increases would be limited to $4.70 and price rises to five per cent.

The free would take effect immediately.

Heath reshuffled his cabinet Sunday in preparation for his promised announcement in Parliament detailing government measures to control prices and incomes.

The cabinet reshuffle involved 19 men and six portfolios, including a new post to help enforce price restraints.
